May Google help you!?

- Who is it friends with?
- Wikipedia and Wikidata. Just like hand and glove!
- Cool! Let's befriend them!

What can be done?

«Wici-Addysg. Putting Wikipedia at the heart of education in Wales» youtube.com/watch?v=kD9xPDlfyTE

Wikimedia Language Conference 2020 w.wiki/HVv «Wikipedia isn't going to single-handedly save the Welsh language, but, in my opinion, there's no better foundation for a language in the 21st century than to create a free thriving and evolving encyclopedia.»

Is this worth attention?

If you talk to a man in a language he understands, that goes to his head.

If you talk to him in his language, that goes to his heart.

What gets you going?

Developing languages are usually in use in all areas of life. Excluding them from some field of human activity, be it a specific scientific discipline or a type of artistic pursuit, an industrial or services sector of economy, i.e. from using those in generating more reasoning patterns, usually causes irreversible damage that promotes language death ... It's very important to aspire towards such a state of things, when any and all news are expected to be expressed through the means of the language in question.
